Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

Allowance for one-time winning 3YO at 1400m dirt track at Tokyo.

My favourite is RHATISCHE, American-bred colt by AMERICAN PHAROAH. He won maiden at 1400m dirt track at Chukyo on 12th January, which was his third start, by six lengths. It was impressive performance and I thought he could be competitive at the class for one-time winners. However, he started at this class for three times since then and failed to graduate the class for one-time winners. He finished second in Allowance for one-time winners at same course and same distance as this race on 17th May last time out, when he clocked 1 minutes 23.9 seconds, which is faster than Allowance for two-time winning 4YO and upper at same course and same distance on same day. As he re-produces that form, I expect him to graduate this class on Sunday. It is encouraging factor that Damian Lane is booked for RHATISCHE on Sunday.

My second choice is DRAGON by MIND YOUR BISCUITS. He won maiden at 1800m dirt track at Chukyo on 18th January by nine lengths, which was very impressive performance. He was shipped to Dubai and finished 6th in G2 UAE Derby. Though he won maiden over 1800m, I have an impression from his performance in UAE Derby that shorter distance should suit him better. Since he returned from Dubai, he has been trained well in the morning at Ritto Training Center and I am sure he is in good condition. I reckon he should be able to run well on Sunday.

My third choice is TRILLION BOY by MAKFI. He has run four races over 1400m in recent starts and finished within first three in two of them. I understand track at Tokyo is suitable for this horse who has strong late kick. In fact, he started at Tokyo for five times and finished second in three of them. I believe he should be able to finish within first three in this Allowance, although it is a matter of concern that he tends to dwell coming out of stalls.

My fourth choice is CEREJEIRA by NADAL. Masayuki Nishimura who trains CEREJEIRA selected maiden at 2000m turf track at Chukyo for the first start for CEREJEIRA. As he was well beaten in the first start, Nishimura changed strategy and CEREJEIRA won maiden at 1200m dirt track at Chukyo on 23rd March. It is obvious that dirt surface for short distance suits him much better, and I reckon he is able to finish within first four in this field.

My fifth choice is MARS ODYSSEY by ADMIRE MARS, who finished second in Allowance for one-time winners at same course and same distance as this race on 4th May. As he re-produces that form, he should have chance to finish within first five in this field.

Allowance for one-time winning 4YO and upper at 1800m turf track at Tokyo.

My favourite is NISHINO TI AMO. The 4YO filly by DURAMENTE finished fifth in G3 Fairy Stakes at Nakayama on 7th January 2024 and second in Listed Sweetpea Stakes at same course and same distance as this race on 28th April 2024. Those performances prove that NISHINO TI AMO should be competitive running against Graded Stakes performers. As she had a wind problem, she side-lined for seven months and this is first start for her since October 2024. She has been trained beautifully in the morning at Miho Training Center since the beginning of May and I judge she is ready to run her race on Sunday.

My second choice is ADMIRAL SHIP by GOLD SHIP. He finished fourth in G1 Hopeful Stakes at 2000m turf track at Nakayama on 28th December 2023. At that time, the connections recognized mile and quarter or mile and half is the suitable trip for ADMIRAL SHIP. After failing to win in eight starts, the connections decided to send him to Allowance at 1800m turf track at Fukushima on 20th April. This slight change of strategy worked well and ADMIRAL SHIP performed better in last two starts, as he finished third in the Allowance on 20th April and second in Allowance at same course and same distance as this race on 18th May. I reckon he should perform well again and finish within first two on Sunday.

My third choice is PASTORALE by SILVER STATE. He finished third in Allowance at Tokyo on 3rd May and clocked 1 minutes and 58.6 seconds at 2000m turf track, which is faster than standard. As I understand the competition in this field is easier than the Allowance on 3rd May, I believe he should be able to finish within first three again on Sunday.

My fourth choice is CLUTCH PLAYER. This colt by DURAMENTE had a temperament issue, which harmed his performance at race courses. After picking up first win at Fukushima on 30th June 2024, the connections decided to give him enough time to mature and this is the first start for him since June 2024. I have an impression from his recent track works that his temperament is much better than before. As he has a big action, I believe the track at Tokyo should suit him.

My fifth choice is EASY BREEZY by TOSEN RA. She finished second in Allowance for one-time winners at Nakayama on 12th January and I understand it was a good effort. As she re-produces that form, I reckon she is able to finish within first five in the field on Sunday.

SELECTIONS: 14. NISHINO TI AMO, 8. ADMIRAL SHIP, 3. PASTORALE, 10. CLUTCH PLAYER & 6. EASY BREEZY

Returned from a break in January with a strong second-place finish at Nakayama, her performance in the next two starts were better than what the finishing positions might suggest. She tends to struggle in races decided by a sharp turn of foot. If the track retains some moisture on race day due to rain, her chances may improve.

With an elite pedigree, by Duramente out of a dual G1winner in the US, his immature temperament initially delayed his progression, but he sustained a strong run through a fast pace for his first win last time. With his long stride, he should ideally be suited to a spacious track.

Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

Allowance for one-time winning 4YO and upper at 1400m dirt track at Tokyo.

My favourite is NORD OVEST by LORD KANALOA, who is half-brother to LE VENT SE LEVE, JRA Champion Dirt Horse in 2018. He has finished second twice, both of which are the races at 1600m dirt track at Tokyo. Even so, I have an impression that 1400m suit him better than 1600m. Since he finished fourth in Allowance for one-time winners at Tokyo on 3rd May, he has been trained beautifully in the morning at Miho Training Center and I am sure his condition is getting better. As I judge the competition in this field is easier than the Allowance on 3rd May, NORD OVEST has good chance to graduate this class on Sunday.

My second choice is KIMIWA SQUALL by COPANO RICKY. Though distance of his last four starts is 1200m, I have an impression that it is too short and 1400m should suit him better. And I believe Tokyo Racecourse, which has long homestretch, should suit well for this horse who has strong late kick. I reckon he should be able to finish in first two on Sunday.

My third choice is BUENA DIOSA by MEISHO BOWLER. He finished fourth in Allowance for one-time winners at Tokyo on 10th May and I regard this performance highly. He was settled at ninth position in 16 runners' field and delivered strong challenge on homestretch to finish fourth, while it was slowly-run race and first three finishers are front runners and runners who tracked the leader. I expect the tempo of this race should be faster than that, and I believe he has a good chance to finish within first three in this field.

My fourth choice is NEO GOLD by HENNY HUGHES. Although he was beaten 11th in Allowance at Tokyo on 3rd May, it was first start for him since December 2024 and it is obvious that he needed the run. He has been trained well at Miho Training Center since the last start and he is much sharper now. I believe he has a chance to finish within first four in this field on Sunday.

And my fifth choice is HERRENCHIEMSEE by ISLA BONITA. He finished third in Allowance at Tokyo on 16th February and TRUMAN TESORO who finished second in the Allowance has already graduated the class for one-time winners. He has been trained well at Miho Training Center since last start and I reckon he should finish within first five in the field.

Aoarashi Sho is stakes for two-time winning 4YO and upper at same course and same distance as Japanese Derby.

My favourite is DUAL WIELDER, who graduated the class for one-time winners on 3rd May, when he won Allowance for one-time winners at Tokyo. The competition here is much tougher than the previous start, however, the 4YO colt by YOSHIDA finished third in G2 Aoba Sho at same course and same distance as this race on 27th April 2024. He clocked 2 minutes and 24.3 seconds in Aoba Sho, which is exactly the same time as DANON DECILE's winning time in G1 Japanese Derby four weeks later. DUAL WIELDER was sidelined for one year, due to injury, after Aoba Sho, and the Allowance on 3rd May was his first start since Aoba Sho. I am impressed to watch the successful comeback, and believe DUAL WIELDER should be able to whelm the opponents in Aoarashi Sho, as he shows himself at his best on Sunday.

My second choice is AVANDEL, who is one of the most consistent runners in the field of Aoarashi Sho. The 4YO colt by WORLD ACE graduated the class for one-time winners at same course and same distance as this race on 13th October 2024. Since then, he has run at the class for two-time winners for four times and finished within first three in all those four starts. He finished third in a race for two-time winners at Tokyo on 15th February, covering final three furlongs for 34.2 seconds, which is the co-fastest in 11 runners. As he re-produces that form, I believe he should be able to finish in first two on Sunday. And it is another factor that Yutaka Take is booked for AVANDEL in Aoarashi Sho.

My third choice is GEOCENTRIC, who finished 2nd in a race for two-time winners at Tokyo on 5th October 2024 and finished fourth in another race for two-time winners at Tokyo on 24th November. Though this is his first start for him since then, he has been trained beautifully at Miho Training Center and I believe he is ready to run his race on Sunday. And although this is first attempt for him to run the race over 2400m, I analyze that his pedigree suggests he can stay mile and half.

My fourth choice is JUN TSUBAMEGAESHI, who finished second in Allowance for two-time winners at same course and same distance as this race on 3rd May. The 5YO horse by JUST A WAY likes the track at Tokyo, where he started twice and finished within first two in both starts.

My fifth choice is CULMINALE, who finished second in last two starts at the class for two-time winners.

Promising, versatile colt. Posted 2-4 at this level after winning first 2 career starts. Only raced over 2000m but extra distance a likely plus. Bit slow to rev and late changing leads. Looking good in work.

Displayed excellent late speed and a strong finish in second over Tokyo 2400m in early May. Distance, venue suit. Seventh start at this level could prove lucky.

Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

Kumpu Stakes for three-time winning 4YO and upper at 1600m dirt track at Tokyo.

My favourite is DANON THE VOLCANO, who finished third in Rikka Stakes for three-time winners at same course and same distance as this race on 11th May. Including Rikka Stakes, the 4YO colt by KITASAN BLACK started at the 1600m dirt track at Tokyo for five times and finished within first three in all those five starts. It is obvious that DANON THE VOLCANO likes this course and distance. He was breezed for seven furlongs at Miho Training Center in the morning on 23rd May and clocked 85.7 seconds. It was very impressive work out and I am sure his condition is improving. As the field includes some runners with good speed, I suspect the tempo of race would be quick, and it should suit DANON THE VOLCANO, who has strong late kick.

My second favourite is TERRIFIC PLAN. The 4YO colt by MASTERY graduated the class for two-time winners at Nakayama on 16th September 2024, when he won a race for two-time winners. Since then, he started at this class for three times. He finished second in a 1900m race at Kyoto on 8th December and finished third in a 1800m race at Kyoto on 16th February. We got the impression through those two starts that he should be able to graduate the class for three-time winners soon. On the other hand, he was beaten seventh last start at Nakayama on 19th April and disappointed the punters who supported him as 3 to 2 favourites. I analyze tempo of last start was not suitable for TERRIFIC PLAN, who is a closer. As mentioned previously, I suppose the tempo of this race would be quick and TERRIFIC PLAN should run much better than previous start on Sunday.

My third choice is TURQUOISE FRINGE, who graduated the class for two-time winners on 26th April, when the 4YO colt by KITASAN BLACK won Allowance for two-time winners at same course and same distance as this race. Including this Allowance, he started at Tokyo for three times, won two of them and finished second once. It is obvious that TURQUOISE FRINGE likes the track at Tokyo. Although this is first time for him to run against three-time winners, I reckon he is competitive at this class and has good chance to finish within first three.

My fourth choice is RATA FOREST, who has finished third in a race for graded stakes performer at same course and same distance as this race on 4th May 2024. As he re-produces that form, I believe he should be able to finish within first four on Sunday.

My fifth choice is TOP OF JEALOUS. Though he was well beaten in last start at Nakayama on 5th January, it was first start for him since 12th August 2023, and he needed the run. He has been trained much better at Miho Training Center since then.

Honest runner tries hard but has best two fifths over last 8 starts. However, this time 200m less than recent starts and return to Tokyo pluses. Looking on toes in work. Worth a longshot wager.

Highly consistent Miho-based colt (six of seven finishes in money) looked poised for win on third start at this class. But trip didn't suit with strong pace and frontrunners holding ground. Has won over Tokyo 1600m before. Very promising if excellent late speed is called for.

Highly competitive here. Is 9-3 at this level with most recent start on 11 May over Tokyo 1600m. Had gate toward outside, was slow to pick up speed, then traveled on outside. With more ground-saving trip, a win easily within reach. Miho-based added plus.

Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

Murasaki Sho is stakes for three-time winning 4YO and upper at 1800m turf track at Tokyo.

My favourite is TEUMESSA. The 4YO filly by HARBINGER graduated the class for two-time winners on 11th August 2024. Since then, she started at this class for three times and performed well in two of them, she finished third in a 1600m race at Nakayama on 28th December and finished fourth in another 1600m race at Nakayama on 12th April. Those performance proves that she is competitive running against three-time winners. On the other hand, she finished 16th in a 1600m race at Tokyo on 16th February and disappointed the punters who supported her as 22 to 10 favourite. In that race, she jumped from the widest draw. I analyze it cost her and believe we can forget about this poor performance. If so, I understand TEUMESSA should be regarded highly in this field. She was breezed for five furlongs at Miho Training Center on 22nd May and clocked 64.7 seconds. It was beautiful work out and I am sure she is kept in very good condition.

My second choice is SHONAN RAPIDUS. This well-bred 4YO colt, who took time to mature and did not run any of Triple Crown for 3YO in 2024. He has been improving eventually this spring. He won Allowance for one-time winner at Tokyo on 1st February and Allowance for two-time winners at Tokyo on 22nd February. And SHONAN RAPIDUS finished fourth in a race for three-time winners at Tokyo on 4th May and proved that he is competitive at this class. I have an impression that the distance, 2000m, was too long for him and 1800m should suit him better.

My third choice is POWER HALL, who finished second in a race for three-time winners at Tokyo on 10th May. It looks he is only horse with speed in this field and it is likely that the 4YO gelding is able to control the race at front. POWER HALL finished third in G3 Kyodo News Hai at same course and same distance as this race on 11th February 2024 and I believe he has an ability to compete well at this class.

My fourth choice is MARUCHAN, who finished second in a race for three-time winners at Niigata on 18th May. He is a closer and track at Tokyo, which has long homestretch, should suit him. In fact, he has picked up two wins at Tokyo.

My fifth choice is NISHINO RAIKO, who finished third in a race for three-time winners at Tokyo on 10th May. He finished fifth in this race twelve months ago and I understand he should be able to finish within first five again this year.

Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

While official title of the race is "Tokyo Yushun", this is widely recognized as Japanese Derby.

My favourite is MUSEUM MILE, winner of G1 Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas) at Nakayama on 20th April, the first leg of Japanese Triple Crown for 3YO. Trained by Daisuke Takayanagi at Ritto Training Center, MUSEUM MILE started four times last year, won two of them, and finished second in G1 Asahi Hai Futurity Stakes. He made a seasonal debut in G2 Yayoi Sho (Deep Impact Kinen) at Nakayama on 9th March and finished fourth. And then, he bounced back and won G1 Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas), defeating CROIX DU NORD, odd-on favourite, by one and half length. His winning time, 1 minute and 57.0 seconds, is stakes record and it is a very impressive performance. While MUSEUM MILE was ridden by Joao Moreira in that race, the Brazilian's temporary license expired and returned to his home country. The connections of MUSEUM MILE have booked Australian jockey Damian Lane in Japanese Derby. MUSEUM MILE is by LEONTES, though LEONTES was a miler, he has sired T O ROYAL, winner of G1 Tenno Sho over 3200m at Kyoto in 2024. And as his broodmare sire is HEART'S CRY, it is expected MUSEUM MILE stays mile and half.

My second choice is MASQUERADE BALL, who finished third in G1 Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas). In fact, he was bumped by other horse for four times and lost momentum during early part of that race. Even though, he delivered strong challenge on homestretch, covering final three furlongs for 33.9 seconds, which was the second fastest in 18 runners, and finished third. I understand we should regard his performance in Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas) highly. And I understand the track at Tokyo suits him better than Nakayama, as he started at Tokyo twice and won both of them.

My third choice is CROIX DU NORD, beaten favourite in G1 Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas). His pedigree suggests extra two furlongs in Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) should help him, as he is by KITASAN BLACK, who completed back-to-back victory of G1 Tenno Sho Spring over 16 furlongs. And he is out of RISING CROSS, who won G1 race over 14 furlongs and finished second over 12 furlongs.

My fourth choice is SHOHEI. The 3YO colt by SATURNALIA won G2 Kyoto Shimbun Hai at Kyoto on 10th May by two and half lengths and it was impressive performance. And it is encouraging factor that SHOHEI is ridden by Christophe Lemaire on Sunday.

My fifth choice is SATONO SHINING, who was runner-up to CROIX DU NORD in G2 Tokyo Sports Hai Nisai Stakes at Tokyo last November. Though he was beaten fifth in Satsuki Sho (Japanese 2000 Guineas), I reckon wide draw cost him. It is a factor that Yutaka Take, is booked for SATONO SHINING on Sunday.

SHOHEI went forward in his last start and he can take the early lead. CROIX DU NORD and HO O ATMAN can come across from their wide draws and be handy. MUSEUM MILE and MASQUERADE BALL will settle midfield.

Coming into the G1 Satsuki Sho (2000m) unbeaten in three starts, he made an early move in the middle stage to take the lead, which may have caused him to unable sustain effort in the final stretch. Though he suffered his first career loss, he remains one of the top contenders of his generation, having captured back-to-back graded titles in the G2 Tokyo Sports Hai Nisai Stakes (1800m) and the G1 Hopeful Stakes (2000m). The Japanese Derby, his second start after a layoff, will be the true test.

Track Analysis by Naohiro Goda

Tokyo Racecourse is an anti-clockwise oval track. Outer turf track is 2083.1m long, with 525.9m homestretch, which is the second longest in JRA's tracks after Niigata. Backstretch is 400m long. There are two chutes to set the stalls for races over 1800m and 2000m. The width of the course is the widest in JRA's tracks. The bend is gentle and it is described as "galloping course". While it is recognized in general that the true ability of runners reflects on the results, it is the tendency that the runners who are off the pace during former part of race and deliver strong challenge on homestretch make good showing at Tokyo Racecourse. Inner dirt track is 1899m long, with 501.6m homestretch, the highest point is from 200m before the finishing line to finishing line on the homestretch and the middle of the far turn to the top of homestretch is the lowest point of the course.

This year, four turf races and three dirt races from the Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) Day will be simulcast to Hong Kong.

Feature Race

G1 Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) (Turf, 2400m)

G1 Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) is conducted at the 2400m turf course. Starting gate is set at 317m before the finishing line on the homestretch and the distance from the starting gate to the beginning of the near turn is 350m. Wide draw is not preferable at this course and distance. There is a sharp rise in the middle of the backstretch with difference in height of 1.5m which comes suddenly after the 600m downslope beginning at the early part of the near turn. Meanwhile, there is a 160m long sharp rise begins from the top of the homestretch, although the final 300m is flat. In all, Tokyo is a fair track, where true ability of runners reflects on the result straightforwardly. However, front runners find it difficult to make all and it is a tough task to both the runners' speed and stamina, especially for the reason that they are required to climb uphill for two times over 2400m. Those with sharp acceleration at the final part of race generally get the upper hand.

Other Races

3yo 1 win & 4yo and up 1 win (Dirt, 1400m)

The 3yo 1 win, as well as the 4yo and up 1 win, are run on the 1400m dirt track. Starting gate is set at early part of backstretch and distance from starting gate to entrance of far turn is 442m. There is no draw bias at this course. Beginning 200m is downslope and tempo at beginning of races tends to be quick at this course. There is slight rise at middle of backstretch and 300m long downslope begins before the entrance of far turn. Homestretch is 501.6m long and 300m long uphill, with the difference in height of 2.4m, begins at the top of homestretch. Final 200m is flat. Various tactics work at this course, where front runners and closers have equal chance.

4yo and up 1 win & Murasaki Sho (Turf, 1800m)

The 4yo and up 1 win, and the Murasaki Sho, are run on the 1800m turf track. Starting gate is set on chute at middle of near turn. Distance from starting gate to the entrance of bend, through which runners are led to backstretch, is 160m long. It is notable that wide draw is disadvantage at this course. Tempo tends to be moderate at this course. Beginning 500m is downslope and there is sharp rise with difference in height of 1.5m at half way of backstretch. 220m long down slope, with difference in height of 2.1m, begins before the entrance of far turn. Homestretch is 525.9m long and 160m long sharp rise, with difference in height of 2m, begins at 66m from the top of homestretch. Final 300m is flat. It is recognized that "turn of foot" on homestretch is a key factor at this course.

Aoarashi Sho (Turf, 2400m)

The Aoarashi Sho is run on the 2400m turf track, which is the same course and distance as the G1 Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby).

Kumpu Stakes (Dirt, 1600m)

The Kumpu Stakes is run on the 1600m dirt track. The course layout is quite unique, as the starting gate is positioned at the end of the near turn on the turf course, with the initial 150 meters (more or less) also being turf. As the runners who jump from wide draws run on the turf longer than those jump from inside draws, it is obvious that wide draw is preferable at this course. Leading wire-to-wire is challenging, and tracking or rallying tactics tend to be more effective at this course.

The Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) Day is the twelfth day of the spring meeting at Tokyo Racecourse. The turf track has been well maintained, and the damaged areas of the lawn have been repaired. A very fair track with good cushion has been prepared for the spring meeting. And after the meeting on 25th May, the temporary rail was moved from 3m to 6m from the inside rail. Therefore, the surface on rail side should be fresh on the Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby) Day. The weather will be unsettled during the week, as rain is forecast for the days leading up to race day. The amount of rain could be significant enough to change track conditions. Therefore, it is advisable to pay close attention to weather updates, as substantial rainfall could alter the track conditions.

Croix Du Nord heads into Japanese Derby looking to avenge first loss

Friday, 30/5/2025

Croix Du Nord is considered the horse to beat in Sunday's (1 June) G1 Tokyo Yushun (Japanese Derby, 2400m).

After claiming the G1 Hopeful Stakes (2000m) at year-end, Croix Du Nord, clinched the Japan Racing Association's Best Two-Year-Old Colt for 2024 award by a landslide after an unbeaten three-race campaign.

However, he was beaten in the G1 Satsuki Sho (2000m), by a length and a half to winner Museum Mile. Now, with the second classic in Japan's Triple Crown mere days away, indications are Croix Du Nord may have a slight upper hand.

At Ritto on Wednesday (28 May) morning, Croix Du Nord worked under jockey Yuichi Kitamura together with a training partner. The Derby hopeful looked in top shape, more filled out and more powerful than he had before the Satsuki Sho. He covered 1200m over the woodchip course in 1m 22.8s and clocked 11.2s over the final 200m.

This time, with only six weeks between races, compared to four months heading into the Satsuki Sho, his preparation has been easier. "It was a difficult schedule getting him ready for the Satsuki Sho," says trainer Takashi Saito. "With a sharpener this time, it's made things easier. He's moving well and his responses seem to be a level, or even two levels, above what they were before.

"Compared to the Satsuki Sho, he is in much better shape, both mentally and physically."

Museum Mile breezed up the Ritto hill course under an assistant to trainer Daisuke Takayanagi on Wednesday. His time over 800m was 56.4s with a final 200m in 12.1s. All looked well and jockey Damian Lane had gotten a reading on 21 May working over 1400m on the flat with a final 200-meter time of 11s flat.

However, Takayanagi's comments post-workout were a bit more lowkey than usual. "He definitely looks close to the condition he was in last time but, this time, he's holding back a bit," he said.

Unlike Croix Du Nord, Museum Mile went from his two-year-old Group 1 to the G2 Yayoi Sho (Deep Impact Kinen, 2000m) and then to the Satsuki Sho. This will be his third start of the year.

"This week I had him just do enough to keep him switched on," Takayanagi said. "Courage is what we need. As the Satsuki Sho winner, I think I can say he's heading into the Derby in a condition that will leave no room for embarrassment."

Satsuki Sho third-place finisher Masquerade Ball is looking in fine shape as he returns to Tokyo for what will be his third time. He won both previous starts at the venue, a listed race and the G3 Kyodo News Hai (1800m).

It'll be the first time for the Duramente colt to race over anything longer than 2000m but trainer Takahisa Tezuka says his suitability to the Tokyo course is his biggest hope.

"He's really wants a big, wide-open course. He has a huge stride and he's really bad at taking the turns, which is something we've been working on. Tokyo is definitely his best venue," he said.

Satsuki Sho fifth-place finisher Satono Shining and Group 3 winner Fandom are two others gaining a good deal of attention, with the first possibly handing Yutaka Take his seventh Derby win, while Fandom's Hiroshi Kitamura guns for his first.

Christophe Lemaire is paired with darkhorse Shohei, who has raced only at Kyoto and comes off a win of the G2 Kyoto Shimbun Hai (2200m) on 10 May. Fourth in the Satsuki Sho, the Epiphaneia-sired Giovanni completes the roll call of the first classic's top five finishers and the top candidates to score the 92nd running of the Japanese Derby.

Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

The G3 Prix du Gros-Chene is a sharp 1000m sprint for 3YOs and upwards.

KIND OF BLUE makes his French debut and returns to racing for the first time since landing the G1 British Champions Sprint Stakes over 1200m at Ascot last October. That marked his first run in the Wathnan Racing silks to round off a stellar season for James Fanshawe. Prior to Ascot he was beaten a head in the G1 Sprint Cup Stakes over 1200m, placed in two 1200m G3 events and was fourth to top galloper INISHERIN in the G1 Commonwealth Cup over 1200m at Royal Ascot. Now dropping down to 1000m, he'll need to show speed from the gate, but if he picks up where he left off, he looks the one to beat.

Last year's winner PONNTOS looks a danger. Miroslav Nieslanik's 7YO has yet to score since that win but remains consistent and has plenty of race fitness on his side with multiple starts this season. Proven over course and distance and on various ground conditions, he's one to look out for once again.

Simon and Ed Crisford's COTO DE CAZA adds intrigue as the sole 3YO filly in the field. She turned plenty of heads with a dominant victory in the G3 Cornwallis Stakes over 1000m at Newmarket last October, when running the rail and finishing strongly. Despite being off the track for 233 days, there's plenty of scope for improvement and she benefits from a weight allowance, which could see her make a bold return if ready first time out.

PRADARO placed third behind PONNTOS in this race last year and managed to score in the G3 Prix du Petit Couvert over 1000m just over three months later at Longchamp. His last appearance was three weeks ago at the same track, beaten four lengths to come fifth in the G3 Prix de Saint-Georges over 1000m where he didn't manage to step into gear when asked in the closing stages. Still, with two wins over course and distance, Sofie Lanslots' gelding is one for the shortlist.

The 10YO BATWAN was fourth behind PONNTOS in this race last year. Although his form has been disappointing this year with several below-par efforts over 1200m at Meydan, Nicolas Caullery's veteran could run well here again dropping back to 1000m.

A G3 winner here but that was way back in 2020 and also over 1600m. Drops down to this pure speed trip but did almost win a 1200m handicap here in May.

Gradually dropping in distance but it seems to suit, springing a surprise when landing a 1100m Deauville Listed sprint in April, and then second over 1200m here in May.

This old guy ran a decent third in this last year. Under a positive ride and rallying late on he landed a 53-1 shock to win a G3 at ParisLongchamp later in 2024. Not so fast since.

Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

The G2 Prix de Sandringham is a 1600m event for 3YO fillies who haven't yet won a G1.

Despite only featuring eight runners, there are some interesting types. One such contender is Francis-Henri Graffard's highly exciting VADINSKA. Over 1600m at Saint-Cloud, she travelled smoothly, and entering the final 500m she took control and strolled clear of her rivals, ultimately winning by a remarkable 10 lengths. This race represents a significant step up in grade, but her trainer is one of the best in France, and her running in this suggests that he thinks she's ready for this level.

GODSPEED has shown she is a talented horse on her four career starts over 1600m and should be respected. Carlos and Yann Lerner's filly debuted impressively at Chantilly in February on the all-weather, powering clear of the field to win by six lengths and ran with credit when a course-and-distance third a month later. She caught the eye when third to France's best 1600m filly, ZARIGANA, in a Longchamp G3 in April, and wasn't disgraced when only four-and-a-quarter lengths behind her again in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches in May. Dropped in class, GODSPEED can give VADINSKA plenty to think about.

British contender BETTY CLOVER was a fine juvenile in 2024 for Eve Johnson Houghton. She has shown promise this season, including when fourth in a 1400m G3 at Newbury in April and second in a 1600m Goodwood Listed race earlier this month. It's hard to know where her British form fits in, but she must be respected.

GHOUFRANN and MIMOS can fill the frame. GHOUFRANN, trained by Hedi Ghabri, was a 1500m juvenile winner and was a narrow second on her 2025 debut in a Deauville G3 over 1400m. She also ran well in his last start in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches.

MIMOS was a 2YO Chantilly G3 winner over 1400m and her form ties in very closely with GHOUFRANN, having finished close behind her on their two last starts, and Nicholas Le Roch's filly can do so again.

Could be very smart, judged by way she crushed nine other newcomers over this trip at Saint Cloud on 1 May. Her rider barely had to move a muscle that day. Big hike in class but chance.

Clearly had improved over the winter as a fast-finishing second in a 1400m G3 at Deauville in April. But then never dangerous in a 1600m G1 ParisLongchamp Classic. This is easier.

Not quite good enough to seriously threaten in a G1 ParisLongchamp Classic but ran respectably there as she had done when third in a G3 previously.

A G3 winner over 1400m here, a surprise as she had twice been beaten in Listed company previously. Wasn't quite up to G1 Classic standard last time.

Twice a winner, over much shorter trips last year. Probably her best run was when raised to 1600m for her latest start, only just failing to win a Goodwood Listed event. An interesting UK raider.

Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

The G1 Prix du Jockey Club over 2100m looks a very open race this year. With a large field of 18 runners, the draw has become crucial and anything wider than 13 poses a big challenge.

The Aidan O'Brien trained CAMILLE PISSARRO, who lifted the G1 Prix Jean-Luc Lagardère over 1400m at the end of last year and who is the only G1 winner in this field, has drawn the rail. Third on his reappearance in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains over 1600m, his jockey Christophe Soumillon thought the 2100m of the French Derby trip would be ideal for him. And history shows us that this is hard to argue against, with a number of good milers having been successful since its distance was reduced to 2100m.

If CAMILLE PISSARRO is the class act, the Aga Khan owned RIDARI must be considered a worthy opponent. A winner of the G3 Prix de Fontainebleau over 1600m, he would have finished much closer than fifth in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains over 1600m, had he not been hampered in the final stages. Often keen in his races, he did his best work in the latter part of the Poule d'Essai des Poulains, where Henri Matisse broke the track record, and should be able to stay the trip.

Another G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains finisher and a horse that will love the step-up in trip is the Charlie Fellowes-trained LUTHER. He finished fourth that day at Longchamp, and while he has been drawn fairly wide, he comes from a yard that has enjoyed tremendous success in France recently.

Chantilly maestro André Fabre saddles three runners, including the Godolphin owned CUALIFICAR, who has done nothing wrong this season, winning all of his three starts over 2000m and 1800m. He comfortably held AL AALI and CURRAGH CHAMP in the G3 Prix de Guiche over 1800m and seems more than capable of imitating his sire LOPE DE VEGA. He will be partnered by William Buick, and considering the Godolphin form this year, another Classic success would not be a surprise.

The Francis-Henri Graffard-trained CURRAGH CAMP has had more luck with the draw and should get a nice run from gate five. He is a good ground horse who wasn't given a hard ride when he finished third to CUALIFICAR in the G3 Prix de Guiche over 1800m, and according to his trainer he has come on a lot since then.

SINILEO and BOWMARK have good early speed and they should go forward and share the lead. CUALIFICAR likes to be handy and he will not be far away. CAMILLE PISSARRO, DETAIN and RIDARI should be at the rear.

Close to winning a G3 at ParisLongchamp on his second career start. But his fourth place – as favourite – in 2000m Listed company at Chantilly this month means that more is needed especially from his high gate.

Horse No.3

Kicked off his career with two victories at Provincial French tracks, proving himself over this trip then. Then only narrowly failing to win a Listed event over 2000m at Chantilly this month. Stable with a great record in this.

Although he steps up sharply in class he is one of only a few whose stamina is absolutely proven for 2100m, narrowly winning over further at ParisLongchamp last month. But more needed and from a tricky gate.

Though his trainer's record in this is strong it is not encouraging for this G1 Classic that he has been a beaten favourite at French Provincial tracks in both starts this season.

Plenty of classy form from 1200m to 1600m including a ParisLongchamp G1 victory last year. His fast finish from a wide gate in a 1600m G1 Classic this month was also very good, as this longer trip could be ideal. Chances.

Showed a good attitude and also an aptitude for this 2100m trip when second in a ParisLongchamp G3 in April, again fighting hard when winning a Chantilly Listed event. Possibilities provided he can overcome his wide gate.

Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

SOLDIER'S HEART progressed into a smart juvenile sprinter last year and this 1200m Listed race gives him a good opportunity to make a winning return to action. He took his tally to three wins from five races when making all the running to easily land the Listed Ripon Champion 2YO Trophy over 1200m last August. The speed he showed in those three victories makes him an exciting prospect for sprints this year and he could be a good deal better than this Listed level. Fitness shouldn't be a huge issue with the British father-and-son training partnership of Simon and Ed Crisford in good form.

ESTEPONA won his first two races – both over 1200m at Deauville – as a juvenile last year. Although he was found out in 1200m Group races later in the season, he kicked off this term with a decent effort when second behind ARIZONA BLAZE in a G3 at Chantilly over 1100m. He wasn't helped by racing furthest away from the stands' rail and the slightly longer distance of today's race should help.

RAYEVKA came up short when tried at the top level in the G1 Cheveley Park Stakes over 1200m at Newmarket last season but she remains a filly with a decent amount of potential. She was a bit too fresh and pulled too hard on her first start of this season when fourth behind ARIZONA BLAZE in the aforementioned 1100m Chantilly G3 in April. That run should have sharpened her up.

British raider ARABIE is unbeaten in two previous visits to Chantilly for Karl Burke. He landed back-to-back victories over this course and distance as a two-year-old last year. His success in the G2 Prix Robert Papin over 1200m last July made him one of the most promising juvenile sprinters in Europe and he ran a sound race in the G1 Prix Morny over 1200m at Deauville the following month. Things have not gone to plan in two starts this season but it's too early to write him off.

MIDNIGHT STRIKE looked likely to improve a lot for his comeback fourth behind smart sprinter WHISTLEJACKET in an April 1200m Listed race at Navan in Ireland. He showed plenty of pace and just faded up the final climb to the line, but should be fitter as a result.

Posted a career best on his reappearance (28-1) when a running-on second in a G3 sprint behind a very smart Irish colt over course and 1100m in April. Clearly a contender if able to back that up.

Justified favouritism at a lower level over 1400m at Saint-Cloud on reappearance. Clearly well regarded (tried at Listed/Group level as a juvenile), this potential favourite hails from a top yard which can do little wrong at present.

This juvenile Listed winner hasn't been at her best so far this season. However, the 1400m may have stretched her stamina (fifth) at Longchamp last time, and the drop back to 1200m may see her in a better light.

Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

On a Classic day, it is no wonder that the main handicap of the meeting is very competitive.

Having confidence in SIR SILJAN as a win selection is dating, but it would be no surprise if he managed a place. He started his career in Poland and since he joined the yard of Henri-Alex Pantall, he has been very consistent in all his starts. He won a 2400m Class 2 race in April and then travelled to Germany for a G2 race over 3200m where he was outclassed. A tough individual, he is in form and should run well in this company.

KING TREZY is better placed in the weights and a model of consistency. He has not been out of the first four in his last five starts in handicap company and following a satisfying seasonal reappearance in a 2500m handicap at Longchamp, he then was the runner-up to BACK TO BLACK in another 2400m handicap. While he'd probably be favoured by softer ground conditions, it would be a surprise if he fails to finish in the first five.

The Jerome Reynier-trained BACK TO BLACK was disappeared from the competition for a year before making a comeback. A change in trainer proved successful and he will now try to make it three from three. He went up in the handicap for that last victory when he beat KING TREZY, but should still be competitive.

The Maurizio Guarnieri-trained GATTOPARDO should also be there or thereabouts. He is lightly raced and when stepped up for the first time in a 2400m handicap at ParisLongchamp, he was only a length behind the winner, who has since gone on to win a Listed race. Third behind BACK TO BLACK and KING TREZY on his last start, he might not beat them but will not be far behind.

The 4YO Francis-Henri Graffard-trained PAY TO LEARN won twice over this trip last season before being stepped up to Listed company over 2400m, where he finished fourth. After disappointing in a major handicap over 2500m last year, he was then given the rest of the year off. He came back this season in a 2400m conditions race at Compiègne, where despite hanging left he finished fourth. He should have improved for that effort and must have a fair chance in this very competitive handicap.

No trip worries for this strong stayer, who formerly competed in Poland. A winner over this trip at Lyon Parilly in April. The ground was soft then, probably his ideal conditions.

Very useful on his day and on a hat-trick after battling success in Class 2 Handicap at ParisLongchamp. Current mark, despite 3.5 kilos rise this season, needn't be prohibitive.

His form is up and down but has delivered at Marseille and Angers in his last three starts. Produced a strong burst from off the pace to win at latter venue but Chantilly record (0 from 13) to date is modest.

Track Analysis by Tim Carroll

Chantilly racecourse is located approximately 50km from Paris, and is considered one of the most beautiful venues in the world. It consists of a network of three right-handed courses, plus a straight course, and includes the first All-Weather track to be installed on a Parisian racecourse, in 2011. The layout used for The Prix du Jockey Club, is The Jockey Club track, which has a circumference of 2400m and is a teardrop in shape. The home straight is 600m in length, rising approximately 10m to the winning post, which places emphasis on stamina.

This year, five turf races from the Prix du Jockey Club Day will be simulcast to Hong Kong.

Feature Race

G1 Prix du Jockey Club (2100m)

The Prix du Jockey Club was originally run over 2500m and then 2400m, but was shortened to its current distance of 2100m in 2005. Over the 2100m they jump from the top of the back straight on the left-hand side of the course. They have a straight run of approximately 800m before they hit the start of the bend, which has a sweeping aspect to it at first, but the final part of the turn, before they enter the 600m rising straight, is sharp. There is no cut-away rail in the straight at Chantilly, meaning horses need to be ridden prominently or look to sweep down the outside, as trying to thread through the field from the rear is a very difficult thing to do. More so than most French tracks, there is a high number of hard luck stories, especially for horses strung up in behind on the rail. As such, horses that draw low need to use up some of their early speed to hold a forward position if they can, or risk finding themselves trapped in a pocket on the rail.

Other Races

G3 Prix du Gros-Chene (1000m)

Over 1000m they start from the same spot as they do over 1200m, from a chute that joins the main course on the right-hand bottom side of the track. However, there are two winning posts in use, and over this trip they run to the first post. Pace runners tend to do well over 1000m, but riders must be careful not to be too aggressive as the straight does rise approximately 10 metres. Runners tend to come down the grandstand rail (like Sha Tin), however, the draw sees low numbers on the grandstand rail, thus low draws are advantageous, especially for pace runners.

G2 Prix de Sandringham (1600m)

Over 1600m they start the middle of the course that is part of the interlocking system in use. They travel approximately 400m before they meet the bend, which has a sweeping aspect to it at first, but the final part of the turn, before they enter the 600m rising straight, is sharp. There is no cut-away rail in the straight at Chantilly, meaning in larger fields horses need to be ridden prominently or look to sweep down the outside, as trying to thread through the field from the rear is a very difficult thing to do.

Listed Prix Marchand d'Or (1200m)

Over the 1200m they start from a chute that joins the main course on the right-hand bottom side of the track. Riders must be careful not to be too aggressive as the straight does rise approximately 10m. Runners tend to come down the grandstand rail (like Sha Tin), however, the draw sees low numbers on the grandstand rail, thus low draws are advantageous, especially for pace runners.

Class 1 Handicap (2400m)

Over the 2400m they jump from the end of the straight course on the bottom left-hand side of the track. They encounter a left-handed elbow not long after leaving the stalls that leads onto a straight run of approximately 800m before they meet the bend, which has a sweeping aspect to it at first, but the final part of the turn, before they enter the 600m rising straight, is sharp. There is no cut-away rail in the straight at Chantilly, meaning horses need to be ridden prominently or look to sweep down the outside, as trying to thread through the field from the rear is a very difficult thing to do. More so than most French tracks, there is a high number of hard luck stories, especially for horses strung up in behind on the rail. As such, horses who draw low need to hold a forward position if they can, or risk finding themselves trapped in a pocket on the rail.

The last ten renewals of the Prix Du Jockey Club have been run on varying ground, but good to soft is the most common description. The weather forecast suggests there is likely to be some light rain in the week leading up to the meeting, but sunny on race day. Thus, if the forecast is correct, and from a recent historical perspective, it is likely the ground will have good in the going description, but good to soft is a possibility.

Camille Pissarro shapes as O'Brien's latest French Derby hope

Friday, 30/5/2025

Two jockeys will be behind the success of Camille Pissarro should Aidan O'Brien's highly regarded contender win the G1 Prix du Jockey Club (2100m) on Sunday (1 June) at Chantilly.

O'Brien's stable rider Ryan Moore partners the pick of O'Brien's two runners who is only lining up in the Classic after a few words of wisdom from another jockey, Christophe Soumillon.

"Christophe rode him last time and the minute he came in he said that this should be his next race," O'Brien explained this week after Camille Pissarro's eye-catching third to stablemate Henri Matisse from a tricky outside draw in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains (French 2000 Guineas, 1600m) three weeks ago.

Soumillon, who has won the Prix du Jockey Club four times, won the G1 Prix Jean-Luc Lagardere (1400m) on Camille Pissarro on Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe Day last year and O'Brien reflected: "As a two-year-old, we weren't sure that he would even get seven furlongs.

"But he obviously won on Arc Day with Christophe and he felt the French Derby was made for him."

O'Brien, who won the 2021 Prix du Jockey Club with St Mark's Basilica, also runs Trinity College in the race reduced from the traditional Derby distance of 2400m to 2100m in 2005.

But it is Camille Pissarro who excites O'Brien.

"His work has been great, and everything has been perfect since the French Guineas. We were very happy with that run. Christophe could be right and he could be very exciting because he is a big horse and he has the scope and everything else to get better."

Luck shone on Camille Pissarro on Thursday (29 May) when he was drawn favourably in stall one against the inside rail - six of the last ten Prix du Jockey Club winners have drawn five or less.

The home defence is led by Ridari, fifth in the French 2000 Guineas who will have to be every bit as good as his connections believe setting out from stall 11.

And Andre Fabre-trained Cualificar will have plenty of supporters despite his outside draw. William Buick's mount is unbeaten in three starts this year, the last in one of the main recognised French Derby trials, the G3 Prix de Guiche (1800m) at Chantilly this month.

Sunday's contest sees the French 2000 Guineas third (Camille Pissarro), fourth (Luther), fifth (Ridari), sixth (Detain) and 11th Heybetli all reoppose over this longer trip.

Father and son training duo John and Thady Gosden has booked the services of Soumillon for Detain, with Thady declaring: "Detain travelled back great from the Poulains and seems in good order. He took the experience well, he ran a nice race and was doing all of his best work late on. He shapes as if the step up to a mile and a quarter will suit him".

Success for Luther would erase the pain felt by trainer Charlie Fellowes after Shes Perfect's disqualification in the French 1000 Guineas.
