Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

PALLATON makes the trip to Melbourne from Sydney after a fighting second place finish in the listed Brian Crowley Stakes at Randwick last weekend. He's extremely fit following four runs back this campaign so a tough 1000m battle at Flemington should suit his on pace style. James McDonald booked to ride for former Hong Kong trainer Michael Freedman also catches the eye.

STREET ARTIST was more than impressive winning his maiden at Mornington in early September before following up with a BM64 victory at Bendigo a month later. He's since kept ticking over nicely in preparation for his metropolitan debut, and with previous experience at Flemington established, and Mark Zahra again aboard, he's tipped to be in the finish.

THAT'SMONEYBROTHER has the advantage of drawing nearer the outside rail which is more than likely going to be the faster part of the track. He was extremely green on debut in September at Geelong before improving sharply to lead throughout during his maiden victory at Ballarat. This contest is much harder but he has the appropriate attitude to step up.

ALEPPO PINE was a jump and run type when he first began but kept being run down, with stamina the main issue. A slight change of tactics was then introduced at Sandown in late September and he produced a strong closing split to win under a determined effort. The shorter 1000m events are clearly his best option which entitles him to be considered amongst the mix.

BOLD SECRET won three jump outs before making his debut at Flemington over the straight 1000m in July where he settled back early before finding the line. He then returned to racing in October at Moonee Valley but was slowly away, caught wide and never settled in the run. With Craig Williams back aboard and a return to Flemington part of the programming he's best kept safe.

GOLDEN CENTURY has made the transition from New Zealand to Australia hard work and a lengthy process but greatly improved his form this campaign. He remains a fizzy customer, who can often be difficult to load, but there's a sizeable engine under the saddle capable of running this long journey. The light hands of former Hong Kong jockey Joao Moreira are expected to assist labelling him a genuine player.

LITZDEEL is an up and coming stayer from the Danny O'Brien stable with plenty of scope and strength on her side. She generally looks comfortable racing in the first half of the field which may see her even attempt to try and lead. The 2800m is a slight question mark, as is the strength of the event, but she's on an upward spiral and carries minimal weight.

ARUGAMAMA arrives to Flemington from South Australia with a dazzling six length victory under her belt at Morphettville. She's developed into a fully furnished mare over the last six months and reached a career high rating with that win. She's a big striding girl with previous experience around this track. Jamie Melham takes the ride with minimal opposition for speed, so there's every chance she can win again.

DON DIEGO DE VEGA must carry a sizeable weight in this long distance contest and that's due to his previously established ability in France. He also won the Listed Grafton Cup over 2350m in July, a deserved victory, with a strong hearty on pace performance. He's now fifth up following a brief winter spell and that fitness base should keep the opposition totally accountable.

FERAGO is rock solid fit for this 2800m contest and should have no problems running out the distance. He's a 9yo gelding with physical conditioning on his side and has always given the impression the longer the better. He's also renowned for his ability to handle cushion in the track, which may further enhance his chance considering some rain is forecast.

KINGSWOOD won the G3 Coongy Cup this time last year after arriving to Australia from Ireland a maiden winner in April 2023. He improved sharply on the training track following a long winter spell which was evident by his encouraging first up effort at Flemington when finishing second. He's not likely to be far off from where he needs to be to win, with his condition further and noticeably improving during his final lead up work during the week.

SAINT GEORGE was beaten a long distance in the 2024 G1 Melbourne Cup before enjoying a lengthy deserved spell. He then recently returned to racing in the listed Seymour Cup with an eye-catching second place weaving through the field. The former English galloper was runner-up in the G2 Queen's Vase at Royal Ascot in 2023, so if doesn't suffer the second up syndrome, he probably wins.

APULIA holds a classy established record overall and was runner-up in the G1 Victoria Derby over 2500m in 2023. He's spent a significant time away from the track the past twelve months but was back feeling well at Moonee Valley first up with a win. What he's got to offer second up after a long spell is subject to debate, but if he rocks with what we know he's capable of producing, you'd be brave taking him on.

ATHANATOS has been a terrific money spinner for connections right throughout his career and must be included in all discussions for this event. He's fit, tactically versatile, capable of winning over further but most importantly has a strong affiliation with this venue. He's also proven on numerous occasions that he can shoulder big weights, which labels him a reliable and viable option.

MOLLY BLOOM returns to Flemington for her fourth run back this campaign after a disappointing effort in the listed Seymour Cup last start. She settled back on the fence and was in traffic most the way before looking to get clear running in the home stretch. The blinkers now go on as she rises in trip and it's worth remembering that she's a G1 winner from New Zealand.

VALIANT KING got under the guard of many form analysts at Flemington in the G3 The Bart Cummings over 2520m after belting home off the back of a furious pace to win. He's on his way to a second G1 Melbourne Cup this afternoon, courtesy of that performance, with his final lead up in the G1 Caulfield Cup, an absolute ripper. He only produced a fair closing effort in the G1 Melbourne Cup last year after settling well back, but he's a far superior animal, in a much better space this year, so it's probable and predicted that he's weighted perfectly to win.

AI RIFFA arrives to Australia from England a highly renowned stayer with an outstanding international rating of 118. The Joseph O'Brien trained multiple G1 winner has had this event targeted for quite sometime and by all reports arrived down under in immaculate condition. His performance to win the G2 Curragh Cup over 2815m in July was only bettered by his four length win in the G1 Irish St Leger over 2800m in September. Therefore, if he can carry this weight over the challenging 3200m then he's the races most likely winner.

PRESAGE NOCTURNE was born to be a stayer judged on the fact that his first start, a narrow defeat, was conducted over the 2400m in France. He since gone on to win five quality races on a variety of surfaces with two over the distance of 3000m. He arrived to Melbourne in excellent shape following a narrow defeat in the G2 Prix Kergorlay at Deauville under regular rider Stephane Pasquier. He then backed that up with a suburb Australian debut in the G1 Caulfield Cup. He's trained on well since and highly expected to run a solid competitive race.

HALF YOURS won his first two races under the care of Ciaran Maher before transferring to the yard of Tony & Calvin McEvoy. During that time he developed into an outstanding staying prospect winning the listed Caloundra Cup over 2400m by a big space, before the G3 Naturalism Stakes at Caulfield, then most recently the traditional lead up to today's great race, the G1 Caulfield Cup. Final preparations during the week have gone to plan as he prepares for his first attempt over 3200m.

ROYAL SUPREMACY began his career in the United Kingdom winning two low grade 2YO races before being placed at Ascot and Newmarket as a 3YO. He also finished second in the G2 Italian Derby before relocating to Australia where he was placed under the high grade care of Ciaran Maher. He enjoyed a year away from the race track to acclimatise and find his way with the lengthy absence seemingly a blessing. A win in the G1 The Metropolitan at Randwick in October branded him a serious player with great acceleration, before plenty went wrong at his most recent start in the G1 Caulfield Cup.

BACASH is a high cruising individual with fitness on his side and he'll take beating, particularly if he leads. With an abundance of race, trial and jump out experience already accrued at Flemington he's in a prime position to make it back to back wins. A good clean getaway is vital to his winning prospects, but, he can make a mistake and still be good enough to win.

NAVY PILOT remains raw, and shall be a formidable galloper in time but possesses the right ability level to finishing high in the frame. His hard chase behind the talented LEGACY BOUND first up over 1100m was an excellent performance which then led to a victory next outing over 1400m. He's drawn to receive the economical run under the guidance of James McDonald and therefore worthy of strong claims.

LUDLUM displayed encouraging ability at the trials and on the training track before making his debut at Ballarat in September. He got back in the field early on before charging home late with purpose to narrowly be defeated by a seriously good type in TRES MAGNIFIQUE. He then went to Seymour and comfortably established a first win, so it's now predicted he'll be good enough to cope with the rise in class.

SULEK fought on evenly over the concluding stages at Caulfield last start to finish a solid third behind BACASH. He's having just his fourth start today and therefore can improve in the areas of experience and strength in a finish. The low barrier draw is an excellent result from the testing 1400m dispatch point because it'll enable him to save energy through the first half.

MISS CELINE performed well on two occasions at Moonee Valley earlier this preparation before struggling with the longer distance of 1400m last start. On the odd occasion, she's also been ridden for speed but failed to respond to the effects of a tactical change. With the opportunity to sit in quietly and conserve today, she can run a race.

SURFIN' BIRD has suffered only one defeat from five attempts at this early stage of her career and was recently exposed to Flemington via two jump outs. She then went to Caulfield and demolished a reasonably strong field over 1440m whilst carrying a sizeable weight. She's a highly talented mare with much bigger races to win so it'll be a pleasure to watch her run around on this big stage.

GUMDROPS has put together two terrific performances since resuming from a spell and is now ready to score. Her second place last start behind SHE'S BULLETPROOF in the G3 Northwood Plume Stakes at Caulfield was a clear indication of her readiness and wellbeing. She was then scratched from a winnable race at Moonee Valley on Cox Plate Day before winning a 1000m jump-out at Flemington in preparation for today.

BOSSY NIC is a super honest competitor who ran close to a career best last start in the G2 Tristarc Stakes at Caulfield. She's draw ideally in a low barrier for Brazilian hoop Joao Moreira and is likely to position mid-field with cover before they turn into the home stretch. She's noted for her ability to accelerate quickly when called upon and her record at Flemington only highlights her chance.

PONDALOWIE has come back with a focused attitude this preparation and there's a race in the future for her to win. Conversely, she's still to prove herself at this level with her race pattern of settling back often making it tough. Nevertheless, she'll thrive at the opportunity to blast a big sustained finish down this lengthy Flemington straight.

FANCIFY is a reliable front runner with plenty of heart and it's expected she'll secure the running rail first and lead. Once in front, she'll attempt to slacken off the tempo before pushing home hard with determination in the straight. Her overall record says she's best at 1400m, when able to control things from the front, so if given to much leeway here she'll definitely make them pay.

SABAJ was a class act in lower graded events in South Australia before raising his profile and status at group level. He then transferred to the Victorian stable of Mick Price & Michael Kent Junior in August and has consistently worked up superbly in preparation for events. He was unlucky not to fight out the finish in the G3 Silver Eagle at Randwick first up, but with a touch and clear running he'll quickly atone second up.

SUNSHINEINMYPOCKET is building a good horses record with five wins already accumulated from just ten starts. His two runs back this time in have served there purpose from a fitness perspective as he arrives here third up ready to peak. Recent Flemington experience is certainly lacking and it's his toughest contest to date, but he holds all the required ability and attributes to cope with additional pressure and stand up.

NDOLA is an emerging talent from the Hayes stable a should be respected despite the awkward barrier draw. Jockey Luke Currie has been with him all the way through and, if required, has the tactical speed to race forward and lead. It's difficult to assess exactly where he'll find himself in running but worth remembering, he did finish second to the smart SEPALS earlier this year.

GALA QUEEN can be included in the multiple chances because she's a listed winner at her very best. She requires everything to go smoothly to give you what she's got, which was precisely the conditions here at Flemington when winning two starts ago. She's drawn perfectly in gate five with Craig Williams to ride and the drop back in distance is tipped to further assist.

LE FERRARI has performed satisfactorily at all three runs back this campaign and from the low draw could lead. There are no noted leaders competing in the last event of the day so he could easily set up in front, at a rate he likes. The depth of opposition should still overrun him in the later part of the home stretch but he should give a decent fight.

SELECTIONS: 8. SABAJ, 7. SUNSHINEINMYPOCKET, 3. NDOLA, 10. GALA QUEEN & 11. LE FERRARI

Track Analysis by Brett Davis

Flemington Racecourse is the headquarters for racing in the city of Melbourne and is located approximately six kilometres from the city's CBD. As a racecourse, it's renowned for its vast expanses and long home straight, by Australian racing standards, which in theory means that every horse gets their opportunity to win there. Racing anti-clockwise on turf, the main course at Flemington has a circumference of 2312m and a home straight of 450m in length. It also has a 1200m straight course, starting from the left grandstand, re-joins the course proper at the top of the home straight, on which all sprint races are run on.

Feature Race

G1 Melbourne Cup (3200m)

The Melbourne Cup is the most famous race on the Australian racing calendar and has been part of the fabric of Australian sport and culture for more than 160 years. It is run over 3200m and attracts the best local and international stayers. The Melbourne Cup starts at the 800m of the straight track. The field of 24 will race for 1000m – and fly by the grandstand for the first time – before they get to the turn out of the straight and enter the Maribyrnong River side of the course. Once they negotiate that turn, they will race for another 800m before they get to the 1200m mark, where they navigate the long and gradual turn that will eventually bring them into the home straight.

Although the field has a long run to the first turn from the 3200m start, inside to middle barrier draws are useful given the large field.

Other Races

Schweppervescence Plate (1000m)

The sprint race on the simulcast is the Schweppervescence Plate over 1000m on Flemington's straight course. Being drawn close to the speed influences, having the right horses to follow into the race and the track pattern itself on the day has more of an influence on the outcome of these races rather than any particular barrier draw.

BM96 Handicap (2800m)

The other staying race on the card is the Benchmark 96 handicap over 2800m. The horses will race for 600m before getting to the first turn, but again, an inside to middle barrier draw is helpful, but not essential, depending on the size of the field.

Listed Melbourne Cup Day Plate (1800m)

The listed Melbourne Cup Day Plate begins from one of the fairest starting points at Flemington because the horses have a straight run of 600m and then only have to negotiate a gradual turn, so barriers are of less significance.

G3 The Hong Kong Jockey Club Stakes & Listed The Amanda Elliott & BM90 Handicap (1400m)

The Hong Kong Jockey Club Stakes is over 1400m and is from a trickier starting point, as the race begins from a chute and then the horses quickly gallop on to a turn, therefore, there isn't as much time for riders to find a position and barrier draws are more significant, with inside draws favourable. This is the same starting point that will be used for the listed The Amanda Elliott and the Benchmark 90 handicap.

Conditions and barrier suit Half Yours in G1 Melbourne Cup

Monday, 3/11/2025

Australia's only home-grown horse in Tuesday's (4 November) G1 Melbourne Cup is poised to fend off an unprecedented foreign legion of international raiders and imports in the gruelling 3200m race at Flemington.

Father and son training partners Tony & Calvin McEvoy are confident their five-year-old gelding Half Yours can back-up his last start win in the G1 Caulfield Cup (2400m) and record historic victories in the country's two biggest cups.

Jockey Jamie Melham, who rode Half Yours in the Caulfield Cup, is bidding to emulate the feat of Michelle Payne, who rode 100/1 shot Prince of Penzance in 2015 to become the only female to ride a Melbourne Cup winner. Melham is the only female to ride a Caulfield Cup winner.

"I've got that major win. Now, I've got to try harder to win the Melbourne Cup," she said.

Among the array of world-class jockeys, Melham will pit her skills against her husband Ben Melham, who will ride outsider Smokin' Romans, one of three runners for Ciaran Maher in the 24-horse field.

After drawing barrier eight and with more rain forecast, Tony McEvoy said everything was falling into place for Half Yours in the AU$10 million (approx. HK$51.2 million) race.

"The horse seems fabulous and what a joy for us now to have the beautiful gate where Jamie can just switch him off and relax and enjoy the race," he said.

"He's a proven performer on soft ground. He loves it. We're praying for a wet track," he said.

Former Irish jockey Robbie Dolan, who shot to fame last year when he rode 90/1 chance Knight's Choice to victory, will ride Maher's Royal Supremacy from barrier 21.

"He's a good chance, but they're all a chance. Anything in the race is a chance," Dolan said.

Chris Waller has the most horses in the race with five, and the market suggests that Valiant King, Buckaroo and Rivers Of Stars are all top three chances.

His assistant trainer, Charlie Duckworth, said he could mount a case for their three fancies but also praised outsiders Land Legend and More Felons.

One of the leading international hopes, Al Riffa, has the top weight of 130lb and drew barrier 19 for Irish trainer Joseph O'Brien and top local jockey Mark Zahra. O'Brien also has Goodie Two Shoes.

The USA's first Melbourne Cup runner, Parchment Party, who won his way into the race after claiming the G3 Belmont Gold Cup (2800m) at Saratoga, New York, will be ridden by legendary American jockey John Velazquez.

The task for England's Simon & Ed Crisford isn't easy after Meydaan drew barrier 22, and they'll be relying on the brilliance of James McDonald.

French galloper Presage Nocturne is among the leading contenders, while the French-bred Absurde is back for his third Melbourne Cup for Ireland's Willie Mullins.

Germany (Flatten the Curve) and Japan (Chevalier Rose) are also represented.

The Melbourne Cup is carded as S4-4 and will be run at 12.00pm (Hong Kong time) on Tuesday, 4 November.
