Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

STAR OF INDIA had been unable to recapture his best overseas form until last start in the G3 JRA Cup at Moonee Valley where he finally put it together. There were multiple hiccups along the way, with stable changes and a lack of racing, but he did begin building positive momentum just prior to the aforementioned win. Furthermore, there was big action around him in betting before he got the cash, with the third horse, MIDDLE EARTH, then finishing third in Tuesday's G1 Melbourne Cup.

BIRDMAN has been in Australia for over a year now and the former Irish galloper appears one of many hopes. He's right up the top of the rating list for this handicap event but has proven he can stay on well whilst carrying weight. His three lengths defeat in the G1 Caulfield Cup behind HALF YOURS reads particularly strong right now, after he came out to win the G1 Melbourne Cup on Tuesday. Any cushion in the track is a plus.

ETNA ROSSO often gets under the guard of punters at a big price due to the fact that his race pattern often has him settling to far back. The 6YO races primarily in Sydney but did venture to Flemington in March where he finished ninth behind MIDDLE EARTH in the Australian Cup Prelude. He handles all conditions and shall thrive at the opportunity of chasing a hard fast tempo, but importantly arrives fit and ready to win.

SAYEDATY SADATY has a habit of either leading or settling handy in races of this nature which is exactly what occurred in the G3 Bendigo Cup last week. He's a one paced galloper with a long lengthy stride and capable of building an unassailable lead. There's only one or two opponents in this event capable of matching his initial gate speed, so it's predicted he'll enjoy a good time in front as pilot.

BERKELEY SQUARE has been an honest and gritty contributor throughout his career and must be considered. He hasn't won over this distance, or for a longtime, but his effort to finish third in the recently run G3 Geelong Cup was superb. He's got a decent weight to carry and always gives away a start, but the long Flemington home straight perfectly suits his gradual build and run on style.
